

The Inspiring Story of the 10th Mountain Division

A Compelling Public Television Documentary Based on the Book by McKay Jenkins

Abbie Kealy, Writer/Producer/Director

Abbie Kealy has written, produced and directed award-winning projects for public television, advertising agencies, corporate and non-profit clients for more than twenty five years. The niece of a 10th Mountain soldier killed during World War II, she was intrigued by a collection of her uncle's wartime letters, ending with the telegram notification of his death in battle.

Kealy's numerous television credits include coordinating producer of the PBS/BBC travel series Rough Guide, the Emmy award-winning program Clickety Clack Christmas Trains, and segments for MotorWeek, HealthWeek. Clients include PBS, WGBH, The National Science Foundation, The National Park Service, Bill Nye the Science Guy, Scholastic Books, The Walt Disney Company, Ketchum Public Relations, The Home Shopping Network, and the U.S. Army. Kealy has produced and directed projects with Andre Braugher, Michele Kwan, Julia Child, Bill Nye, James Edward Olmos and Louis Rukeyser, among others.

Her work has been recognized with an Emmy award, as well as awards from The New York Film Festival, PBS, The Columbus International Film & Video Festival, and The Madison Ave. Advertising Federation. She received a B.A. from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in Television & Film Production.

The 10th Mountain Division: Part of History...Making History...Changing History.

For More Information Contact: Abbie Kealy, 5316 Glen Falls, Reisterstown, MD 21136
(443) 570- 9482 E-mail: AbbieKealy@comcast.net